REGISTRATION TO BE OPENED.

If the father of an alien became naturalized before the child became of age, the child is a naturalized citizen, but must exhibit the father's papers or a copy of the same from the court issuing them.

A foreign woman, married to a citizen of the United States is a citizen.

An American woman, who marries a foreigner, takes the nationality of her husband and must exhibit his papers; at the termination of the marital relation, if she continues to reside here, she may resume her citizenship.

Foreign-born unmarried women must be naturalized themselves after they become of age, or by their father before they become of age. If married to a foreigner who is naturalized she must exhibit his final papers.

Any foreign woman who acquires citizenship by marriage to an American retains the same after the termination of marital relations, if she continues to reside here, and unless she makes formal renunciation of citizenship.

Service of aliens in the United States army does not, as is generally believed, imply citizenship, unless petition for final papers has been made and papers issued, such service eliminating only the necessity of first papers.

Proof of filing on homestead is not sufficient proof of citizenship. Certified copies of final papers can be had by writing to the clerk of the court where they were issued, if the originals are lost.

If you are not old enough to vote, but will become of age by the time of election, you may register in the 30-day period immediately preceding the election. The clerk will mark the date on which you will be eligible to vote on your card in red ink.

There is one grocery store to every 100 inhabitants in the United States.

Arrest German Civilians.

ATHENS, Jan. 4.—The allies at Salonika have arrested 150 Teutonic civilians, despite a protest by Greece.

Turkey protested through American Ambassador Morgenthau and threatened reprisals if they were not released.

There is one grocery store to every 100 inhabitants in the United States.

Process Is Fast.

The process of registration is not a hard one at all. You go up and sign a card. Then the clerk asks you your name. He writes that down. Then he notes your street number and the names of the cross streets your house stands between. The place of birth goes down next. In one corner of the card is written your party affiliation. If you have one. You may vote only in the primaries of that party.

You do not have to give your age.

Excuses, Makeshifts of Those Who Fail

(By B. C. Forbes.)

NEW YORK, December 21.—Excuses fill no pay envelope.

The salesman who brings in excuses instead of orders keeps no wheels turning.

The manager who makes no profit, but only excuses, is soon cast aside.

The reporter who habitually brings in excellent excuses, but no "story," does not help to fill the paper.

The advertising man who can produce nothing but ideal excuses does not last long.

The detective who can always furnish an excuse for not catching wrong-doers is not in line for promotion.

The engine driver who has excuses to offer for ringing in his train late day after day and week after week is not the man the railroad wants.

The renting agent who can attract no tenants, but can furnish fine excuses for his failure, is not the person the landlord cares to keep in his employment.

The editor who always has an excuse ready for inability to increase or maintain circulation soon loses the confidence of the publisher.

The professor whose pupils year after year fail to make a creditable showing at examinations does not make a hit with college authorities.

The designer whose creations will not sell cannot hope to efface his failure by even the best excuses.

The captain who loses his ship, no matter how convincing his excuses is doomed.

The general who loses more battles than he wins soon loses his command, irrespective of the excellence of his excuses.

The inventor who invents only excuses for failure is apt to starve.

The cook who spoils the food cannot make matters right with the most convincing of excuses.

The surgeon who loses most of his cases will by and by be avoided, regardless of plausible excuses.

The ball player who can trip an excuse off his tongue for repeated misplays is not the man for whom managers will compete.

The winner who is constantly missing cannot retrieve himself by the choicest of excuses.

The world wants results, not excuses. No man can hit the bullseye every time.

No man can make a sale to every prospective customer.

No man can achieve the superhuman.

Indeed, it has been sagely said that the man who never made a mistake never made anything else.

But the best workers in any field are those who offer the fewest excuses.

You will notice that the fellow who is not making good nearly always blames someone else.

Often he is too conceited and self-satisfied to look for the cause in himself, in his own shortcomings, in his own lack of energy and ability.

even the pretense of unity, which had existed, has disappeared since the time when the Austrians offended the Hungarians by removing the Hungarian flag from a fortress at Belgrade.

The seriousness of the present quarrel, the correspondent says, are instigated by the parliamentary activities of the independence party, which despite the entreaties of the premier, have been stirring the Hungarian grievances.
